

Scalefour Society Press Release

David Brandreth to produce Retrospectives

The Scalefour Society is very pleased to announce that David Brandreth will be taking responsibility for producing future Retrospectives of the Society's events.

A major part of the coverage of the Society's activities takes the form of photographic retrospectives. These are produced for each of the three major annual shows of the Society: Scaleforum; Scalefour North; and Scalefour SouthWest. They provide a valuable record of the exhibits and a way in which those who were unable to attend in person can be inspired by the quality of the modelling on show.

Starting from the recent Scalefour SouthWest show, David has taken over the compilation of the retrospectives of the three main shows from Danny Cockling.

The Scalefour Society welcomes contributions from any photographer willing to submit pictures to include in the retrospectives. Any pictures taken at the Society's shows can be sent to David Brandreth via the new email address:

retrospectives@scalefour.org.

All images will be credited with the photographer when published, and the copyright remains with the photographer.

The Society's thanks go to Danny for his past work and to David for taking over this vital role.

The most recent retrospectives can be found on the Society's Shows webpage:

The next event for which a retrospective will be published is the Society's major annual show, Scaleforum, held at Leatherhead on the last weekend of September. This promises to be as large and as varied as ever, and will provide many fine examples of 4mm modelling that will be included in the show's review.
